

Websites for Mobile Devices

A mobile compatible website is different from a normal website on major 3 grounds.

1. A normal website is optimized for specific screen resolution, screen height and screen width. Say for a 1024x768 screen. So if a visitor views this website on his mobile he will see a horizontal scrollbar. A mobile website will not show any horizontal scrollbar.
2. There are many items, browser plugin (like flash) are not supported by a mobile browser. So a mobile website are devoid of these items / code
3. A mobile website is always a trimmed version of the normal version. It does not include all the pages, a lot of info on a single page.

How to get it done?

1. Contact us showing your interest. Tell us as more as possible about your requirement. If required have an online discussion through skype / gtalk.
2. We will give a fixed cost estimate if you can provide us a fixed requirement. If you give a rough requirement, we will give a ball park figure. We can write a formal requirement for you at a separate cost.
3. We agree on a price, payment schedule, hiring model, time etc.
4. We start developing the website/app in the agreed way and you pay as per agreed schedule. We take all the trouble to define, analyze, design, develop and test the application. Here is the full website app development process using RP framework.
5. You check the progress on each step and give rectification suggestion whenever required.
6. When the application development is complete and it has passed our quality testing you check it finally
7. We setup it at client server and keep a watch for few days

What does it Cost?

It depends on your requirement and how much of your website you want to include in the mobile version. It will definitely cost lesser than the cost of developing the full desktop version. You should develop the desktop version first, run it for some days and then develop the mobile version to keep the cost at lower side.
