Usage-Based Hiring - How does it work?

Usage based hiring is recommended only with other hiring models. Say you have hired one or more dedicated / part dedicated developers but suddenly you need help from a creative dsigners (or say load tester). It is quite that   a developer will not be able to help you much, even they do, it will be a compromise. So to adhere to quality you should hire a creative designer (or load tester) in short ter, get the job done and leave him. We will bill you for the actual hours only. Maximum quality without hitting your budget.
