

Server Administrator

When your business will grow, you will often need to move your site to virtual dedicated and dedicated server. To take the full advantage of a dedicated server you should be able to administer it. It is true, the routine administration will be done from the datacenter engineers but they are not suitable for the following types of works

1. Fix it when your site is hacked
2. New software install/upgrade
3. Important data backups
4. Moving data server wise / site wise
5. More

You can of course hire a datacenter engineer but you may not afford the cost. Even you can afford the cost you will not afford the delay.

We have server administrators in our company to save our customers from odd situations.
